Haskins, Bell and—Hello, Northfield.

And Gov. Bell has left the ranks of the silent ones.

The value of a public privilege in Barre is not realized until a competing company applies for the same thing.

The dove of peace once more alights in the city council chamber, and the olive branch is again entwined lovingly about.

A former Vermont man has just been chosen to teach "Bankruptcy" in the law department of Boston university, but it is denied that he gained his familiarity with the subject in his native state.

A Brookline, Mass., pastor rallies to the defense of golf (if golf needs any defense) by declaring that it is the game for the old and the young, the fat and the lean, the women and the men. Fore!

There should be no egg famine in Washington county now that the Central Vermont Poultry and Pet association has offered a prize to the poultry-woman who can show the best record of egg yield from her hen.

Supt. Ferguson of the State Antislavery League seems to be about ready to admit that Burlington voted "Yes" last month. His effort to declare the vote illegal tapers off into a recommendation that the local option law be amended at the next session of the legislature. Probably it will be tinkered somewhat and with no damage to it, either.

In an address at a Jefferson banquet at Des Moines, Iowa, on Monday evening, Gov. Folk of Missouri was the chief speaker, and he gave voice to the following sentiment, which most people will agree with: "We are in the midst of one of the most dramatic periods of American history, the period in which the people's rights are to be defined and observed as they never have been before. There are some who see danger to our institutions in the agitations resulting from the exposures in official and business life. I do not share this view. To my mind the hope for the perpetuity of this government by the people was never brighter than now. The fact that this awakening has come at a time of unusual prosperity shows that it does not proceed from a spirit of discontent, but spring from the moral sense of the people. It is simply a determination to stamp out the things that dishonor in public life and the things that oppress in private life—a firm resolve that government shall be representative of the good, not of the bad. The energies of this public conscience have been extended from the domain of the public wrongdoer to that of the private wrongdoer and probing into the carryings on of grafters of every kind."

THE PRICE OF COAL.

When asked yesterday if he had raised the price of coal a Barre coal dealer said that he had not and would not so long as his supply lasted. The position taken by this man is in refreshing contrast to that of those dealers in the large cities particularly, who have taken advantage of the momentary excitement to boost their prices from 25 cents to one dollar a ton. What ground have they for raising the price at this time? They bought the coal at the regular purchasing figure; the operators have not raised the price. In fact, the operators are warning retail merchants not to increase the price, declaring that they will cut off the supply to those who do. Therefore, since the retailers have secured what coal they have at the old rate, there is no reasonable excuse why they should attempt to squeeze out another dollar per ton from the customer. When the coal operators begin to raise the price of coal, then it will be time enough for the retailers to advance on their price. But that is yet some distance ahead. Perhaps the best way to get around these unscrupulous dealers will be for the general public to let them severely alone when they raise their prices and await developments in the controversy now going on between the operators and the mine workers. If you can't get your next winter's supply of coal at the usual price, then postpone buying. That is one way of checking the grasping of the greedy. There is said to be a fairly good supply of coal on hand in case there should be a prolonged strike, a contingency which is not really expected.

A GOOD TEAM

Work and thrift make a combination hard to beat. Many people know the meaning of work who have not learned the meaning of thrift. The man who works and who has acquired the habit of thrift is the man who is getting ahead. The right thing to do is to save a part of your wages every pay day, deposit the amount in the Granite Savings Bank and Trust Company and watch the account grow in goodly proportions. A dollar will open an account, but if you can make it five you will get ahead that much faster.

A Better Witch Hazel

When anything that has been abused by adulteration the way Extract Witch Hazel has, still remains in favor its pretty evident that it is an article of extraordinary virtue. The kind we sell is what Witch Hazel should be. It is freshly distilled, of full strength, and meets perfectly the requirements of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia. Our Witch Hazel never has that sour, musty smell characteristic of the cheap grades. 15c 1/2 pt., 25c pt.
